Dept. of Education, Office of Educational Research and Improvement, National Center for Education Statistics, 2002 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)50755262 Subject: Teachers -- Certification -- United States -- Statistics. Excerpt: . . . Data and Methods The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) is a major source of data regarding teacher qualifications in the United States. The NCES Schools and Staffing Survey (SASS) col-lects information on the educational backgrounds and professional credentials and teaching as-th signments of kindergarten through 12-grade teachers in the United States. These data can be used to produce national estimates of out-of-field teaching by subject field. SASS data are based on nationally representative samples of Americas schools, districts, principals, and teachers. 3 SASS data were collected most recently over the 1999 - 2000 school year. See appendix A for a discussion of the design and methodology of SASS data over the life of the survey. Elements of Teacher Qualifications Out-of-field teaching has been defined by examining two elements of teachers qualifica-tions: state certification status and postsecondary education. At first glance, one might assume...
